

Kindness, compassion and respect...

At the core of our newly developed 83 suite retirement home is a belief that quality care depends on the ability of our team to bond with our residents, learn their needs, their interests, take the time to talk and reminisce with them, get to know their families and share together in daily life. It's what you want, what you need, when you need it.

The compass of care at Chapel Heights points directly to our core values based on kindness, compassion and respect. We know by celebrating our individual differences it only makes us even stronger encouraging and supportive, making a difference every day.
